Dennis Moseley-Williams is an internationally known consultant in the Financial Services industry in the areas of Practice Management, Business Development and Marketing. For 13 years his primary business goal and passion has been helping entrepreneurs create the sustainable, predictable and duplicable businesses of their dreams. Moseley-Williams speaks to Fortune 500 companies, at national conferences and to individual clients and firms. He is a recognized expert in the areas of increasing sales, managing client relationships and building great businesses.

Moseley-Williams now takes his knowledge, skill, style and message to diverse audiences and industries across North America. He has a unique, passionate and humorous style influenced by the lessons he learned working with top-flight advisors, and entrepreneurs. All the information Moseley-Williams will share is drawn from real life. His presentations are events that attendees remember, learn from, and talk about.

His message, best described as 'client-centered marketing', is a proven system for attracting great clients and for building a great business—for life. He takes clients thorough the process of creating customized marketing plans that specifically address their business needs and are easily understood and implemented by all members of their team. Moseley-Williams' insightful and always humorous presentations teach the skills it takes to be successful in today's highly competitive world, and have established him as one of industry's most popular speakers for keynote addresses and full-day workshops.
